GROTESQUE

Never had it. Never will.

A complex collage titled "ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE, AND ONLY ACTED OUT YESTERDAY" at the top. The central focus is a large, blue, metallic robotic hand reaching upwards towards a green, multi-lobed plant-like structure. To the right, a green alien head with a single eye is visible. In the foreground, a man in a white shirt and glasses aims a black rifle. To the left, a priest in a white cassock and mitre is shown. The collage is filled with numerous other figures, including a man in a black suit and hat, a man in a red jacket, a man in a brown military uniform, and a man in a black tuxedo. Text labels are scattered throughout: "GROWLIN' SAD" near the priest, "TWO-FACED" near the alien head, "HOWLIN' MAD" near the man in the military uniform, and "STRAIT-LACED" near the man in the tuxedo. The background is a mix of dark and light colors, with a large, glowing green shape in the center.

A collage featuring a large, hairy, werewolf-like creature with a white beard and a dark suit, a man in a military uniform with a skull and crossbones on his cap, and a man in a dark suit and red tie. The text "OWLIN' MAD" is overlaid on the collage.

A complex collage featuring a central figure of a man in a white short-sleeved shirt and glasses, aiming a black assault rifle. He is positioned in the foreground, looking intently through the sights. Behind him, a dense arrangement of images includes a young man in a white t-shirt, several women in revealing clothing, and a crowd of people. In the bottom foreground, three individuals are shown in a celebratory mood, clapping and smiling. The overall composition suggests a theme of public spectacle, media attention, and the intersection of violence and entertainment. The text 'STRAIT-' is visible in the bottom right corner.
